

It's important to understand how to pay for health care when you have an account-based plan. Use this information to help you compare the HRA and HSA Plans and decide which one is best for you.

To learn more about each plan and how the phases of the plan work, go to targetpayandbenefits.com.

UHC HRA Plan	UHC HSA Plan
Only Target can contribute to your account, and any unused dollars roll over to the following plan year if you remain enrolled in the HRA Plan. Eligible medical expenses are automatically paid from your account. If you leave Target, any remaining dollars go back to Target. You cannot use account dollars to pay for pharmacy, dental or vision expenses.	You and Target can contribute to the account. You own the account, and the dollars roll over to the following plan year and are yours to keep if you leave Target. The account earns interest, and you can choose to invest your account dollars once your balance reaches $2,100. This account also comes with a debit card. You can choose whether to use your account dollars now, or save for future expenses. Account dollars can be used to pay for medical, pharmacy, dental and vision expenses. Please note: The IRS has restrictions on using HSA dollars to cover non-tax dependents, such as domestic partners or adult children. Contact your tax advisor with questions.

- The Bind plan also:
- Covers preventive care—such as annual physicals, screenings, and immunizations—at 100 percent (no copay).
 - Covers the full cost of an eye exam each plan year after a $10 copay.
 - Protects you if something unexpected happens by limiting the amount you pay out-of-pocket during a single year.
 - Includes a prescription drug benefit with CVS/Caremark.
 - Includes free in-network virtual visits for all enrolled members.
 - Includes the same network of providers as UHC.
